Monday June 3rd 2024, 0800-1700

Location: WSIN, 1825 Bell St, Suite 205, Sacramento, CA, 95825

Description: The A-Z of Explosives course is an 8-hour course which will provide law enforcement personnel such as patrol officers, probation and parole officers, investigators, narcotic detectives and gang detectives the ability to recognize explosives and explosive related threats while in the field responding to incidents or conducting investigations. Attendees will become familiar with recognizing common commercial explosives, fireworks, military ordnance, improvised explosive devices, homemade explosives and indicators of homemade explosive manufacturing operations and their crossover with drug labs. Attendees will learn improvised explosive device trends including those being used by extremists, transnational criminal organizations and those used in active shooter incidents. An emphasis will be made on safe practices for responding to explosive incidents, working cooperatively with bomb squads, explosive case investigation, explosive case charging and preparing an explosive case for prosecution.

Instructor: Jason Winger is a Lieutenant with the West Sacramento Police Department assigned to Field Support. He is an active member of CNOA, currently serving as Vice Chair for Region II. Jason is a Public Safety Bomb Technician and ATF Task Force Officer, having served on the Yolo County Bomb Squad since 2001. Jason has previously served as a Patrol Officer, DOJ/ BNE Task Force Agent, SIU Detective, Patrol Sergeant, CRT Sergeant, SIU Sergeant, Motor Sergeant, and Watch Commander. Jason has both instructed and testified as an expert in subjects related to controlled substances, clandestine laboratories, criminal street gangs and explosives.
