

ADVANCED SEARCH WARRANTS

Class description: The Advanced Search Warrant class is a two day class designed to teach students a variety of complex search warrants. The primary focus of the class will be to familiarize students with 1546 of the Penal Code. Students will be shown not only how to write complex search warrants, but more importantly, to evaluate each of the warrant types as an investigative technique to determine which warrants are best to use in various situations. Students will be introduced to warrants covering:

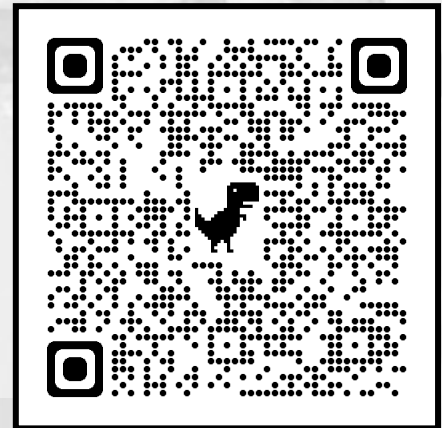

- Cell phones, DVRs, and computers
- Phone pings
- Tower dumps
- Cell phone call data records
- Cell phone advanced location data
- Meta (Facebook, Instagram), Google, & Snapchat
- Google Geofence
- 1332PC arrest warrants
- Complex arrest warrants
- Cell phone Area Searches

Who should attend? Detectives, Detective supervisors, Patrol officers, and Deputy District Attorneys.

Instructor: Detective Francis Hardiman

Detective Hardiman began his law enforcement career in 1993. He became a detective in 1998. He retired in 2024 after 10 years at homicide, where he wrote complex search warrants on a weekly basis. Detective Hardiman has extensive experience in all of the listed search warrants. Notably, Detective Hardiman has forced Facebook to appear in court on several occasions to defend their refusal to provide information that was ordered via a warrant.
