Course Description:

This accelerated NEW course will explore the diversity of clandestine drug lab culture. This course will cover varied topics from safely identifying and investigating clandestine drug manufacturing labs and recognizing immediate potential hazards to officer/public safety while on scene. The course will identify the most common manufacturing labs and current trends in production. The course will assist law enforcement officers in building a prosecutable illicit narcotic manufacturing case and relaying pertinent information in cases of large-scale lab fires/explosions.

Instructor:

Erik Harris (Detective) is a 25-year veteran in Law Enforcement with over 16 years of experience working minor and major level narcotics related cases. He currently is assigned to a task force which investigates clandestine manufacturing labs. Detective Harris has investigated labs ranging from butane honey oil (BHO), PCP, Methamphetamine, fentanyl, DMT, GHB and a vast array of others.
